Job Title Senior Lecturer/Lecturer, English

Department College of Arts & Sciences

Classification Faculty

Job Description

The University of Texas Permian Basin seeks a generalist in English Composition and Literature Survey courses. In addition, preference may be given to candidates who have a demonstrated ability to teach either Drama or Spanish – or both. The appointment will begin in Fall 2020.

Positions are one-year appointments with opportunity for renewal.

A PHD or ABD is required with at least 18 graduate-level hours in English. This appointment is contingent upon completion of the PhD by August 2020.

Candidates with experience or interest in teaching, research, dual credit students, and on-line instruction are preferred. Qualified candidates are those with degrees in Literature, Comparative Literature, Drama, Education, or Linguistics.

The normal teaching load for a Lecturer is 5/5, or five three-hour courses in each of the Fall and Spring semesters. This position is dedicated to pedagogy and service. The instructor will teach Freshman Composition and Sophomore Literature surveys, face-to-face and on-line, including dual-enrollment students. The instructor may also be asked to provide instruction for upper-level courses as needed in Drama and/or Spanish, in her or his area of specialty.

Review of applications will begin on or after November 15, 2019 and will continue until the position is filled. Applications should include a brief cover letter, vita, and copies of graduate transcript(s).

*Official transcripts will be required before a letter of appointment may be issued.

Questions about the search may be directed to the department Chair, Dr. Marlon Fick: fick_m@utpb.edu.

The University of Texas Permian Basin is an affirmative action, equal opportunity employer and applications from all groups of qualified individuals are encouraged. This position is security sensitive and subject to Section 51.125 of the Texas Education Code. A criminal background check will be conducted prior to employment.
