74th Annual Convention in Tulsa Moving Words: Migrations, Trans- lations and Transformations

The 74th Annual South Central Modern Language Association conference was held on October 5-7 at the Renaissance Tulsa Hotel and Convention Center in Tulsa, OK. We, again, had an exciting variety of topics discussed throughout the conference. A sample of the Special Session topics this year included: "Apocalypse from Now On: Migrations at the End of the World," "Graphic Texts & Visual Rhetoric: Migrations, Translations and Transformations," "Migrating Online: Digital Technologies and Writing Program Administration," and Translation vs. Transformation: Bicultural Implications of Translation. The conference featured a total of 116 sessions and more than 400 conference participants. We appreciate the participation of our members and their efforts to create successful conferences for SCMLA, year after year.

SCMLA realizes the importance of providing workshops and networking opportunities throughout the conference. This year, we continued our tradition of hosting a Job Seekers Workshop and Mock Interviews with helpful information for our members entering the job market. The "Strategies for Getting Published" roundtable, featuring South Central Review managing editor, Nick Lawrence, South Central Review book review editor, Christopher Bundrick, and Associate Editor of Children's Literature Association Quarterly, Sara K. Day was, again, a great success. All of these events will be held again next year at the San Antonio conference. We would like to thank all of our members who helped with and attended these professional development opportunities.

At the Business Meeting, the SCMLA membership voted on a motion to shorten the term of the Executive Director from 5 years to 3 years. The motion passed and the term will be applied at the end of 2018. Dr. José Juan Colín has been approved by the Executive Committee as Executive Director through 2021.

Benjamin Myers was honored as the keynote speaker for 2017. Myers was the 2015-2016 Poet Laureate of the State of Oklahoma and is the author of two books of poetry: Lapse Americana (New York Quarterly Books, 2013) and Elegy for Trains (Village Books Press, 2010). He has been honored with an Oklahoma Book Award from the Oklahoma Center for the Book and with a Tennessee Williams Scholarship from the Sewanee Writers' Conference. His prose appears in World Literature Today, Books and Culture, First Things and other magazines. Myers teaches poetry writing and literature at Oklahoma Baptist University, where he is the Crouch-Mathis Professor of Literature. His address, entitled "Why Teach Poetry?" focused on several reasons and needs that we as teachers, mentors, academics, and citizens have to keep students reading. He also stressed many political and economic facts that try very hard to prevent us and the school systems in general from accomplishing our mission. At the end, he said, we must not give up. Keep trying; poetry will save us all.

The 2017 Poets' Corner, organized by Julie Chappell, featured poets Abigail Keegan, Ron Wallace and Robin Carstensen. As always, Poets' Corner continued to bring in award-winning poets to share their work with our members. A work by each poet is included later in this newsletter.

This year's Women's Caucus of the SCMLA breakfast was chaired by Margaret A. Johnson and featured guest speaker, Dr. Dawn Hall of Western Kentucky University, who gave a talk entitled "Contemporary Women in Film: Kelly Reichardt."

2018 SCMLA Conference October 11-14 San Antonio, Texas

SCMLA will be in San Antonio, Texas in 2018. Our hotel, Menger Hotel is located next to the Alamo and near the River Walk. Members will find a variety of shops, restaurants and entertainment within walking distance of the hotel.

The Call for Papers for San Antonio 2018 is listed later in this edition of the Newsletter. Topics are varied and can accommodate research on a broad range of subjects. We also accept Special Session proposals on topics beyond the conference theme.

2018 Conference Theme: "Crossroads of Cultures"

The 75th annual South Central Modern Language Association convention will be held in San Antonio, Texas from October 11-14 at the historic Menger Hotel on the River Walk, right next door to the Alamo. San Antonio is the perfect city for this year's theme, "Crossroads of Cultures." Through the art, architecture and design of the city, it is evident that there were, and are, different cultures crossing paths and influencing each other, now and over the past several centuries. San Antonio is a cultural kaleidoscope that began with the native indigenous peoples who made their home here. The arrival of the Spanish people and, later, the Anglos, resulted in a new culture that permeates almost every place in the United States: the Hispanic American culture. Literature, Linguistics, Cultural Studies and other forms of art bear witness to this mixing and coexisting of many different cultures. We anticipate a wide range of exciting research connected to this topic to be presented at these meeting. As always, papers on other topics are also welcome. Please join us for SCMLA's convention in San Antonio, Texas on October 11-14, at the historic Menger Hotel.

Nominations, including self-nominations, will be accepted from members or from the publisher of an eligible book. Send two copies of the nominated book by March 31, 2018 to the SCMLA office.

Nominees must be current SCMLA members and must have been members for the previous two years. The successful candidate for the SCMLA Book Award will be announced at the Annual Business Meeting in San Antonio, Texas.

Professional Development Opportunities: Workshops, Mock Interviews, and More!

The 2018 Conference in San Antonio will feature professional development opportunities designed to be helpful to members at all career stages. In addition to a workshop for job-seekers and mock interviews, we will again hold a roundtable with journal editors entitled "Strategies for Getting Published." Be sure to look for these exciting events in the 2018 Convention Program.

We Invite Regional and National Associations to Hold Allied Sessions at the SCMLA Conference in San Antonio

The South Central MLA invites regional or national associations for scholars in fields of cultural studies, literature, linguistics, philosophy, theory, visual arts, and other areas of the humanities to form an allied session at our annual convention. Forming an allied session is an excellent opportunity for associations that would like to meet more frequently or for small associations that do not have the resources to plan a regularly scheduled conference. Association presidents, executive directors, or officers may write directly to scmla@ou.edu for details.

Friends Membership

We are pleased to offer special benefits to those who renew or join as Friends of the South Central MLA, a membership category that allows members to make a tax-deductible donation to the organization by contributing at a higher optional annual membership rate. This support allows the association to offer new research and conference travel grants, and to subsidize low graduate student rates. Please consider purchasing a membership at the Silver ($150), Gold ($300), or Platinum ($500) level when you renew your membership this year. Friends of the SCMLA receive an invitation to a special reception at the annual convention. Friends are also recognized in our conference program and their names are prominently displayed in the registration and reception areas. We thank you for your support!

Reminders for Conference Participants:

You must be a current member to propose a paper or otherwise participate in a Regular or Special session. Please renew your membership before sending a paper proposal to a session chair or a session proposal to our office.

*In addition to membership fees, conference participants must also register for the conference by August 31, 2018.

Please note: At the Fall 2014 meeting, SCMLA's Executive Committee approved a change to conference submission procedures: double submissions of abstracts are no longer allowed. Members may send a proposal to only one academic session and one creative writing session.

Accommodating abstracts: If a high quality abstract cannot be accommodated in the session to which it is submitted, the chair should forward it to the SCMLA office, which will try to find an alternate placement for the abstract. Alternately, the Chair may, with the consent of the submitter, contact other sessions that might be able to accommodate the abstract and ask if they have space.

Splitting Sessions: If a session chair receives five or more abstracts of high academic merit, s/he may petition to split the session into 2 or more panels. Please email scmla@ou.edu to ask about this option. We ask that chairs wait to confirm the acceptance of additional presenters until we verify that there will be adequate space to split the session. Requests to split sessions will be honored on a first-come, first-served basis. SCMLA members who present work on a creative writing session may also deliver an academic paper at the conference as in the past.

The South Central Review Invites Ideas and Submissions

The South Central Review is edited by Richard J. Golsan, University Distinguished Professor of French at Texas A&M University. SCR is published by Johns Hopkins University Press and archived by Project Muse and is the official publication of the South Central Modern Language Association. Managing Editor Nick Lawrence (University of South Carolina—Lancaster) welcomes submissions and ideas for special projects and issues on a wide range of topics concerning literature, culture, and the arts. Members may contact him at: lawrennm@mailbox.sc.edu

San Antonio 2018 Regular/Allied Sessions Call for Papers

Below are the calls for Regular/Allied sessions. If any of the information for your session is missing or incorrect, please contact SCMLA@ou.edu.

If you are interested in presenting a paper in a session, email an abstract and a brief CV to the session chair.

Remember: double submissions are not allowed. Each member may submit a proposal to one academic sessions and one creative writing session. If a proposal deemed of high quality cannot be accommodated in the session to which it was submitted, the chair will forward it to the SCMLA office to find an alternate placement. Alternately, the chair may contact other sessions that may be able to accommodate the abstract, after receiving consent of the submitter.

Session chairs who receive more than four high quality abstracts are encouraged to split their session into more than one panel. In most years, SCMLA can accommodate these requests. Please contact the SCMLA office before confirming the acceptance of additional presenters.

Poems from the 2017 Poets' Corner Poets

The Filling Station

At every filling station men checked the water, oil, and tires saying, "Ok, miss, you're ready to go."
Even out of town, I trusted them.
But for real repairs, I found Mr. Giacomo on May Avenue. He never looked for my name in a computer.
He knew me. His was the face
I saw for years, his black hair greased back, a carefully trimmed mustache, thick black glasses. His overalls, rarely spotted, held a red cloth
in his pocket to wipe away oil and axle grease before he delivered his diagnosis.
His short plump fingers, nimble
a surgeon's, saved my car's life
several times:
"Every problem in a machine, he said
"has a solution. But for the rest of life you need opera."
Saturday afternoons he fine tuned
His garage radio to the operas—
his voice bellowed lyrics in Italian, his hum accompanied all other languages
floating through the purr and roar of engines.
Emotions he said, while replacing a water pump,
pulling a tire, or putting on a fan belt,
are not problems to be solved
but tones to fill the heart.
From him I learned how to live the tragedies and the comedies of this small station we call earth.

Renegade

November rides in
from the east
on a blood bay mare
 iron spur rowels rattling,
the black brim of his Stetson,
pulled low
above hard, hazel, autumn eyes.

Behind him,
the sky is wearing bones
 a line of leafless sycamores etched against the greying day in a time of outlaws.

Well aware
 the cold is on his heels,
he watches as a rising crescent moon
lifts the black
above not yet winter hills, cocks the hammer back
 and buries the world
 under collapsing stars.

Poems from the 2017 Poets' Corner Poets

Ghazal: Winging It

for my father Skip Carstensen (1943-2015), Airborne Ranger Infantry flying over the desert after his burial at Arlington

Bless the chosen ones in the back rows stuffed together like artichoke hearts, bless the rain as it pours on the just and the unjust, bless the passengers and the sweet blessed hearts of their four wailing, mucous-draining children, bless their mother and father sneezing into their arms; from the badlands and highways of my oil-rigged heart, bless you, which is to say: may your heart not suffer, may it take the pressure, the interruption without fracture, the standbys and straining, the dumbstruck loneliness in its blessed strickenness, may it keep its rhythm down the arroyos and cracked terrains, its verdant slopes too, sweeping down from the longing peaks and ventricles from the valleys, bless each valley of your heart to the valley of the shadow of death, bless the patchwork, burnt-out fields of your heart, the corrugated folds folding over the staggering clouds, blessed in their towers and their silver hearts draping over the blessed blue wings of your heart, bless the engines of your heart, the metal-foil, nuts and bolts of it, and the maker, bless the screwer of the bolts of it, bless the braver of the heat on the tarmac of your hulking heart, bless the tundra too, and the numbing blue hands of the one de-icing the blessed wings in the wintering months of your Arctic heart, bless the flaps and slats, the liftoffs of your heart; bless propulsion, bless the glide in the glimmering skies of your blessed dragonfly-heart, bless the landing gears and gentle landings of your runaway, rattling, cocooned heart, bless the frayed belt of your heart and its belly folding over the blessed buckles pressed into the narrow seats and fold-out tables, the venae cavae of your heart, bless the B-rated movies scrolling across your sentimental, guilty pleasure-blessed heart, bless the gluttony and gorging of your heart, the jagged gorges and berth, bless the river widening wider, your heart beat a blue schooner sailing far down the blessed current of your heart toward open sea rolling to a distant shore, the majestic queen palm sway in your garden-heart, the banyan and thatched roof home nestled in the blessed hundred-acre wood of your Christopher Robin heart, bless the honey pot, the Elderberry and lilac of your Huckleberry heart. Bless the bruising pulp and stain, the steam-blessed log-hauling rigs of your heart, the wolf creeks and salmon rush, the shipyards, the cargo- battered bulging ports of your heart, bless the coliseums and bridges of your heart, bless

cont'd

Poems from the 2017 Poets' Corner Poets

the risk, the truss and lattice, the shear and cantilever spar, the architect's vision, the cable-stayed harp and fan design suspending your great heart span by span, bless the tension, the holding, the holding open to one another's truths, bless its breathing in and out, bless your ride in the lawful land of prey and predator, the one vast mind, bless its accordion-consciousness, expanding, contracting, collecting the data, recording us, the lost homunculus. Take this down, then, inscribe this, release it forever and ever: bless turtle island sliding down the grainy shore like a sand dollar chipped, a cut of shard, light years to find us whole, flying the wilderness, heart-shocked beasts thrumming yes, bless.
